The present reform school grew out of a primer institution of a similar character designated "The Guardian Society," incorporated by to of Congress approved July 1, 1022. That ac-lety, through the liberality of a few citizens trailing for the reception of boys, leaving no steepuate funds with which to carry on the institution. No further appropriation having been made down to May, 1870, and the former one being nearly exhausted, the effort to put the institution in operation proved unsuccessful. By a supplementary act, approved May 4, 1870, the title of this institution was changed to that of the "Hrom School of the District of Columbia," and the following board of trustees were inserporated? Nathan Sargent, Henry D, Cooke, Rev. B. F. Wiggett, Richard Wallach, Henry A. Brewster, be Vere Burr and W. B. Todd.

The board deemed it salvisable to organize the school by appointing a superintendent and receiving a small number of boys sent to the institution by the Criminal Court, relying upon Congress to make such appropriation as would enable them to carry the school on. The board obtained the services of Mr. George E. Howe, superintendent of the State Reform school of Ohio; a brother of Mr. Howe, Mr. P. W. Howe, who also had much expresence in the Ohio State Reform school, was employed as assistant and manager of the school and farm, his wirefacting as matroo. The system slopped for this institution was the "family plan" which worked so successfully in Ohio, Germany and France, thus providing for Javesnic delinquents a safe, good home, and not a gloomy and cheeriess prison. The boys by the pola of power. Mr. Howe, during this year, with his first installment of boys, sixteen in number, fenced in a considerable portion of the farm, plowed and planted twenty acres of inad, beside making agarden.

States, a large miniter of Congression of the United States, a large miniter of Congression and Sentators, who expressed their great salisfaction with the guieral appearance, orderly deportment, and performances of the hoys.

This year there were one hundred and four boys in the school; tairty-sight of the uninber were discharged, some by reason of expiration of the tertils for which they were sent to the school; this were discharged, to make 700 for other boys sent to the institution by the courts, and two only as fully reformed. By a failure of Congress to pass the bill making an appropriation for the expenses of the school for the current year, the board were left comparatively without means to defray the expenses of the school. In this dilemma the board had to decide whether they would break up the school into the street or sent them back to the courte to be restreet or sent them back to the courte to be restreet or sent them back to the courte to be restreet or sent them back to the courte to be repration, thereby enabling the board is keep the school in successful operation through all their embarrassments. At this time much alckness prevailed at the school, but through the judicious management and prompt attention to each case by the superintendent no deaths occurred. The location being found to be unhealthy the board naked Secretary Delano to secure a new location and not needed for aquestuct purposes, and with the proceeds and some additional funds purchase a more suitable place.

This year the farm products, were abundant. Twenty acres of corn of excellent quality, five acres of potatoes, three acres of beans, two of vines. Industing melons, escumbers and squashes, were produced. There was also a large vegetable garden. Some of the vegetables were marketed, which was a source of revenue to the institution. Start-four bundles of wheat and ninety-four or oats were harvested; five acres of laint were planted with grass seed; three acres of laint were planted with grass seed; three acres of laint were planted with grass seed; three acres of laint were planted with grass seed; three acres of laint were planted with strawber-ries; also, several hundred grape vines were set out. Eleven hundred and twenty-five feet of paling fence had been constructed, besides repairing all the fences of the farm.

By an act of the bith of March, 1972, all and singular the powers conferred and duties enjoined by existing laws upon the flectuary of the Interior relating to the reform acrool in the District of Cohimbas the same were transferred to the Department of Justice, and the board of trustees, December 31, 1973, male application through lion. Geo. H. Williams, Altorrey General, to Congress to change the location of the school from the Universitient of Justice, and the exection for the one-chase of a new site and the exection for the ore-chase of a new site and the exection.

purchased, and that at least one building would be erected and dishied for the accommodation of the school before the sickly season should come. But in this hope the board were disap-pointed. The selection of the new site was not accomplished until about the 20th of July, when accomptished until about the 20th of July, when the akeky season had commenced. The school, including the supernatement, his write, the matron, and his assistants, suffered severely from malarisi discusses, as they had the year be-fore. The matron, Mrs. Howe, fell a victum to the prevailing disease, and in her death the in-stitution inct with an irreparable loss, Rind, motherly, judicious in her treatment of the boys, caim and self-possessed on all occasions, and unwestled in her care and attentions to boys, caim and self-possessed on all occasions, and unweariest in her care and attentions to them when sick, she won their affection and confidence and control over them. She was truly a mother to them all, she might probably have recovered her health by going to the mountains or sme-shore, but she would not leave her post of duty to save that like which she devoted to the good of the voture, the unfortunate, and the duty to save that life which she devoted 'a the good of the young, the unfortunate, and the erring.

August is the removal of the school to the present site took place. The place selected was old Fort Lincoln, and is now called "Mount Lincoln," being an elevation overlooking the surrounding country for many miles distant. It is situated on the old Blainchaugt turnpike road, three miles east of the Capitol. The buildings now erecting on this high point of land will, when compicted, be completened and find marks to a wide extent of country from every point of the compass. The new site consists of one hundred and fifty acres of very onerse indi. which dred and fifty acres of very uneven land, which, from this fact, is succeptible of great ornamen-tal improvement.

The school was removed at the above date and was quartered in the barn, where the boys were imade as comfortable as circumstances would allow. On the flat of January the first family building was occupied by the boys. The structure is of red briefs, three stories high, thirty-two feet front by fifty-six feet back, and finished with brownstone. The first floor is finished off as a school-room, with accommodations for one hundred boys: second floor, dormitories, offices for those in charge of the building water-clears.

The main building, not yet finished, is to consist of a centre building, with two wings. The cantre will be to feet a linches by at, three stories high, with Mansard roof and towers. On the front will run a porch the whole length. In this building there will be a reception-room, office superintendent's diling-room, malf oroom, The two wings will be three stories high, with Mansard roof, and will constant uning-room, half or bory, chapt, work shops, reading-room and hospital. It is expected that the whole building with be thirded by the fast of September. Thus far the contractor, Mr. Tae heat hof the boys outing the company of the new building has been very good, not a case of sicknes being on hand at the present inc.

There are at present led boys it the school, about equally divided in color. They constitutes

Many of these boys are totally ignorant of the existence of a Delty, and only know the name of our Saviour as a werd of prefamily. Of right and wrong, or considence, they have sucrety the faintest idea. In stealing, therefore, or committing any other orime for the purpose of supplying themselves with food and clothing, they but follow their animal instincts. It is lamentably true that the streets of almost every city and large town in the United States are infeated with idle, vicious boys, who are in a fair way to become criminals and inmates of State presents on a gallows or by the poinsard or pistol of one of their companions. These boys on may be ead to be the pupils of crime, and supply the inneuerable hous who now fill the prisons of the companions and the prisons of the companions and the said to be the pupils of crime, and supply the inneuerable hous who now fill the prisons of the companions in a common jail for perity offences of the companions of the companions and be done with them?
